Off to state

Hundreds of GSL elementary, junior high, senior high school students, the school band and staff sent the Panthers' girls basketball team off to the state tournament last Tuesday, March 30. A parade of fire trucks led the team buses through Glencoe and out to Highway 212 for the journey to Chanhassen High School. The Panthers defeated Minnehaha Academy in the quarterfinal game. Details on page 7.

Glencoe gives street work another green light

Overlay projects aimed at keeping city streets drivable

Street work will again be commonplace in Glencoe this summer as projects to keep streets in the city in decent driving shape while protecting city infrastructure.

Monday, April 5, the city council approved the next step in overlay projects on city streets in dire need of attention. It is estimated to cost $805,000. Councilors also advanced the next step in upgrades to East 10th Street, its curbs and sidewalks.

Both projects will go out for bids later this spring. The $1.45 million East 10th Street project is slated for bid opening May 13 and is scheduled by Aug. 31. The overlay work on various city street projects is slated for bid opening July 15.

The bid openings will be the final hurdle for the city to nix the project for 2021, but doing so will cost the city $1 million in federal funding. Half the federal funding is slated for 2021 and the other half expected in 2024, meaning the city will carry a portion of the federal government's funding until it arrives. The street overlay project will be funded using proceeds the city was putting into bond for previous major projects and assessments for benefitting property owners to fund the work. There will also be assessments to property owners who benefit from the improvements.

East 10th Street

The council approved the plans and specifications for the work on East 10th Street and OK'd the scheduled bid opening.

The project calls for a two-inch mill and overlay between North Hennepin Avenue and Morningside Drive with a stress-absorbing membrane layer. It includes work on sidewalks to meet requirements of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), the addition of sidewalk from Union Avenue to Morningside Drive, replacements of sections of curb and realigning the curb at Vinton Avenue. The project also includes removing the driveway into the courthouse parking lot and opening a new entrance on Judd Avenue just north of East 10th Street.

The project will be completed while traffic flows on East 10th Street, meaning work will be done on alternate lanes in phases.

The construction cost is expected to cost about $1.22 million. In addition to the $176,000 the city will contribute to the overall project cost, $275,000 will come from assessments.

City streets

The city council agreed to authorize preparation of a feasibility project, soil borings, a draft assessment roll and a topographical survey costing about $13,300 for the work on East 14th Street, from North Union Avenue to Morningside Drive; North Newton Avenue, from East 16th to East 18th streets; 18th Street, from North Loudon to North Newton avenues; and Sunrise Drive. The work on East 14th Street, North Newton Avenue and East 18th Street involves pavement reclamation and a four-inch overlay valued at $595,000. The work on Sunrise Drive is a two-inch edge mill and overlay estimated at $45,000.

GSL Schools watching COVID case rate inch up

District hoping in-school learning, plans for prom, graduation can continue

By John Mueller
Editor

With in-school learning underway and plans for prom and graduation taking shape, school officials in the Glencoe-Silver Lake School District are watching the case rate numbers and other criteria edge closer to the point where in-school learning and other activities are threatened.

Superintendent Chris Sonju is encouraging people to continue to social distance, practice good hygiene, wear masks and take advantage of vaccinations to minimize the spread of COVID-19 and its variants so that schools, students, families and communities won't be negatively impacted by the virus. The district recently implemented contract tracing on about two students at the high school and a sixth-grade classroom is under quarantine after a positive test.

The 14-day case rate per 10,000 people by date of specimen collection has McLeod County at 30.98 for March 7-20 – a level just over the level (30 to 50) recommending, not mandating, hybrid learning for elementary and middle school students and distance learning for high school students. The state recommends 20

After nearly 13 years of employment with the city of Silver Lake, City Clerk Jon Jerabek announced his resignation at the council meeting Monday, April 5. Jerabek accepted the assistant city administrator position with the city of Glencoe.

Jerabek started with the city in 2008 as the lead bartender at the municipal liquor store. He was promoted to liquor store manager in 2013.

In 2017, Jerabek accepted the position as city clerk/treasurer which he has held since.

GSL Knowledge Bowl fine tunes strategies for state

By Brianna Taggart
Staff Writer

While some teams work out, run drills and analyze future opponents' gameplay for state, the Glencoe-Silver Lake Knowledge Bowl teams are preparing differently for the upcoming big meet.

GSL Knowledge Bowl has two teams preparing for state this Friday, April 9. Participants are putting their minds together in more ways than one to earn the championship title.

This will be senior Kayla Reichow's first time participating in state, and she's proud of herself for making it this far.

"It felt truly amazing to qualify for state," Reichow said. "I have participated in Knowledge Bowl for six years now and qualifying for state makes me feel like I have accomplished something."

Practice strategies

The Panthers have a few practice strategies tucked up their sleeves.

They've been practicing twice a week. And even though they don't know what the questions will be at state, co-head coach Eric Anderson said he'll pull practice questions from the region's website or from past meets GSL attended. These categories include geometry, physics, Earth science, grammar, literature, drama and poetry.

The Red Cross is testing blood, platelet and plasma donations for COVID-19 antibodies. The test may indicate if the donor’s immune system has produced antibodies to this coronavirus, regardless of whether an individual developed COVID-19 symptoms. Red Cross antibody tests will be helpful to identify individuals who have COVID-19 antibodies and may now help current coronavirus patients in need of convalescent plasma transfusions.
COVID-19 antibody test results will be available within one to two weeks in the Red Cross Blood Donor App or donor portal at RedCrossBlood.org. A positive antibody test result does not confirm infection or immunity. The Red Cross is not testing donors to diagnose illness, referred to as a diagnostic test. To protect the health and safety of Red Cross staff and donors, it is important that individuals who do not feel well or believe they may be ill with COVID-19 postpone donation.

Dennis Wolter and Linda Delagardelle have been friends for about 10 years, and now they’re ready to bring that friendship to center stage. They’ve been practicing the rumba almost every other day since mid-February at Panther Field House to prepare for Dancing Like the Stars Sunday, April 11.

By Brianna Taggart
Staff Writer

After over a year of preparing the rumba, Linda Delagardelle and Dennis Wolter are excited to bring their friendship to center stage. They will be joining 10 other couples for this year’s Dancing Like the Stars charity event hosted by nonprofit organization 2B Continued. The free event will be live-streamed Sunday, April 11, 6:30 p.m., from Glencoe City Center.
The general public is not allowed to watch it in-person at Glencoe City Center because of the COVID-19 pandemic and limited seating. People can go to lp.constantcontactpages.com/su/I8P3ZPf/dlts2021 to register for the free livestream.
Delagardelle, 68, and Wolter, 70, have been friends since they met working at Seneca about 10 years ago and it was their mutual love of dancing that brought them closer. They would see each other at the canteen at work and then ran into each other at the Glencoe VFW.
“I think it’s going to be fun,” Delagardelle said despite having stage fright. “We’re giving it our all.”
“It’s a very, very, very good cause,” Wolter said. “I’m going to do this for the cause, and I want to do it the best I can and I think we are.”

The perfect partner
“Linda was there and I was there, and well, we danced a couple of times,” Wolter said. They hit it off and started dancing at other places, too. When executive director for 2B Continued Tammy Diehn reached out to Wolter about participating in the event, he sought out Delagardelle as his dance partner. She immediately jumped on board.
“I’m always in for dancing,” Delagardelle said. “I love dancing.”
She competed in dance competitions as a teenager in Iowa and has done a lot of ballroom dancing throughout the years.
“Almost every time there was a band at Medina Ballroom, I was there,” Delagardelle said.
She said that was a good thing because they have dance lessons there an hour before the music starts there and was able to work on her skills.

Preparing for the stage
Delagardelle and Wolter initially started practicing the rumba in January 2020 for the 2020 Dancing Like the Stars event. However, the event was canceled because of the coronavirus pandemic, and their practices took a back seat. Danny Ross at Henderson RoadHaus in Henderson had been teaching them choreography.

“We had it all down and then COVID hit and we couldn’t do it,” Wolter said. “We didn’t know if it would ever happen.”
After studying their dance moves from a video they recorded of themselves a year ago though, they’re back to practicing and ready to spin their way to the stage this month.
Delagardelle and Wolter drive to Henderson every Tuesday to get help from Ross and then practice about every other day to get their dance moves just right.
“We’ve been going over steps one through eight like 15 times,” Delagardelle said. “Those are the hardest ones.”
They’re ready to show off their dance in matching royal blue and black outfits next Sunday.

Clark and Susan Christian-son; Cory and Tina Carr; Tyler and Terri Helland; Peter and Jessica Hess; Brook and Suzanne Magnuson; Dean and Carol Nissen; Neil and Melanie Winterfeldt; and Barry and Karlea Kylos.
People without Internet or who wish to watch at a public place can go to the following places to join a watch party: Glencoe VFW, Main Street Sports Bar Restaurant in Glencoe, Longhorns Burger House in Lester Prairie, EJ’s Bar and Grill in Gaylord, Arlington Dugout and Iron Tap in Waconia.
The event is free to watch, but people can visit charity.gofundme.com/o/en/campaign/2021dlts to donate. This also goes toward the couples chances to win. Each $1 donated is one vote.
Diehn’s sister, Shelly “Teuby” Teubert, took her own life in January 2017. Diehn created 2B Continued in her honor and the event will be held on her birthday.
All proceeds go to benefit suicide prevention and mental health awareness.

About the event

The other couples joining the production are Phil Grochow and April Trebelhorn; Mike and Amanda Feterli; to 30 cases per 10,000 as triggering hybrid learning.

Other factors

In addition to the county-level data, when making decisions about their learning models, school districts also need to take into account the number of confirmed positive cases, the number of people needing to quarantine, and the level of influenza or COVID-like illness in the school community and each school building. It is also important for school districts to assess information about the conditions in their school community and school buildings, including implementation of health best practices in instructional settings (such as mask wearing and appropriate spacing of students), instructional preparedness (such as staffing sufficiency or co-herded classrooms), facility and transportation capacity, and engagement and communications with local stakeholders.
The district is working with county public health staff and members of its leadership team and representative of the learning cooperative in Marshall to track progress and the school environment.
“We’re evaluating the numbers every day,” he said.

School staff is working to maintain a balance between positive learning and activities and maintaining a safe environment. All the district’s staff has had access to being vaccinated, he said.
“We’re doing our best to maintain that balance,” he said. “We’ll do what’s best and we’ll continue to advocate for our students and staff.”
At the high school, plans for some form of junior-senior prom and graduation are evolving. But those plans are taking shape in a dynamic atmosphere, he said.
Sonju said the district and its staff is working hard to keep the facilities clean with additional sanitizing.
The 14-day case rate per 10,000 people published weekly by the Minnesota Department of Health has been slowly climbing since February. It was at 11.17 Jan. 24 to Feb. 6. It was at 8.37 Jan. 31 to Feb. 13, and 9.49 cases per 10,000 people for Feb. 7-20. The rate was at 13.96 for Feb. 14-27 and 17.86 cases per 10,000 for Feb. 21 to March 6. The case rate reached 21.49 for Feb. 28-March 13 and reached 30.98 in the most recent set of results released, March 7-20.

Brownton resident Doug Hoffman tore down the old building next to Brownnton Congregational Church on Division Street Thursday, April 1. He recently bought the property from Morris Gasow Jr., and he's planning on building a shed on it. The land is currently zoned for commercial use and would need to be rezoned.

Brownton resident tears down building, with plans to build shed

By Brianna Taggart

Rubble, dust and trucks were the scene next to Brownnton Congregational Church on Division Street Thursday, April 1, when an old building was torn down and hauled away.

Just as soon as the building was taken down, people could see a new building taking its place. The previous building's roof caved in during winter of 2019-2020.

Now, new owner and Brownnton resident Doug Hoffman is hoping to build a shed on it. He recently bought the property from Morris Gasow Jr.

"I'm planning on using it as storage or some day I'll retire and do some woodworking," Hoffman said.

The city approved this after Hoffman got a demolition permit, and Austin Frauentien Trucking in Gaylord hauled the previous building away April 1.

Brownton City Clerk Lori Cacka said that land is currently zoned for commercial use. If Hoffman wants to build a shed, he would have to go to the city council to propose it be rezoned to residential non-homestead. He has not done that yet, but Cacka expects it to be a simple proposal and process.

The reclamation work includes replacement of segments of curb and gutter to improve drainage. A valley gutter would also be replaced at the junction of East 14th and Sunrise Drive.

The project includes two sets of bid alternates, a section of East 11th Street, from North Knight to North McLeod avenues and a section of North Greeley Avenue from East 13th Street to East 18th Street plus a block of East 17th Street. Both those projects are for a one-inch overlay intended to keep the streets drivable for the next few years to come. The two alternates are cumulatively estimated at $165,000.

The work is scheduled to take 30 to 45 days and be completed by the end of October.

The work also includes patching work in some of the more dilapidated portions of the streets. Brody Bratch of Short Elliott Hendrickson (SEH) said there would be reflective cracking in the overlay likely within the first year. The work will improve the driving surface and extend the life of the pavement.

In other action at the April 5 meeting, the Glencoe City Council:

- Paid bills totaling $209,363.55.

- Heard reports from the Glencoe fire and police departments on their work during 2020.

- OK'd a League of Minnesota Cities tort liability waiver.

- Heard a report from City Administrator Mark Larson on Panther Heights' plans for an additional building.

Reichow and her teammates have been using their computers at some practices to get used to the buzzing strips to help with any technical difficulties they may have.

A number of students also use trivia apps on their phones when they're practicing by themselves. There's many questions involving the French language, according to Reichow, so she's been paying extra attention to those types of questions during practice.

The third strategy they've been working on doesn't necessarily involve studying about the categories. It's all about learning when to press the buzzer.

"A major advantage in Knowledge Bowl is being able to buzz in before an opponent, but after you have enough information to answer the question with confidence," Anderson said. "Practice is helpful for this skill as well because it gives us a simulated meet in a live setting."

Reichow agreed, and said this has been one of the main strategies for GSL. Buzzing in at the right time can be really helpful. If people buzz too early, they won't have enough information. However, if people buzz too late, another team could get the point.

"My team has been good at branching ideas off of each other to come up with the right answer," Reichow said. "With that being said, I would say that our strategies are to buzz fast and work as a team."

This will be Glencoe-Silver Lake's 13th year qualifying at least one team for the state competition. GSL most recently won a state title in 2018.

In other business, the council:

- Went into closed session to discuss a settlement with a former employee. The council referred the matter to its insurance company through the League of Minnesota Cities.

- Heard a petition was received from residents near the proposed campground site.

The city is proposing an initial four-site campground near the city pool. The campground would not have electricity at this time. A local group has expressed interest in funding the initial project, with little or no cost to the city.

Concerns from residents include the cost of maintenance, noise, lack of a city police department to patrol and effects on property values.

The council will hold a public meeting at a future date in regard to the matter.

- Approved a contract with Clarke Environmental for mosquito spraying for $4,389.

The city has hired Clarke Environmental for a number of years. The contract includes 11 bi-weekly treatments throughout the summer months. There was no increase from the 2020 contract.

- Discussed a private drainage tile at 217 Century Lane. At the last council meeting, the council decided this was a private matter that did not involve the city. Property owners Joe and Rachel Yates addressed the council. They feel that the drainage issues are caused by a shed that was placed in the neighboring property that was permitted and approved by city contractors. The council will review the matter.

- Discussed ambulance rates. Ambulance Chief Steve Hackbarth initially proposed raising the transport rates and mileage cost from $900 to $1,896 and mileage from $18 per mile to $38 to align with Allina Health rates. Allina services the Glencoe and Hutchinson areas.

He then proposed $1,300 per transport and $23 per mile, which is what the city of Arlington charges after discussions with their ambulance manager.

The council approved an increase to $1,000 per transport and $23 per mile.

Hackbarth also proposed a "treat no transport" (TNT) rate with other services charged. Currently the ambulance service only bills when a patient is transported. TNT fees in other cities range from no charge to $600.

The council requested more information before making a decision on the TNT charge.

- Held the annual open book hearing of the Local Board of Appeal and Equalization prior to the regular meeting. The city's assessor Brenda Chmielewski told the board that residential valuations increase by 10 percent in the last year. No residents were present for the hearing.

City of Brownton HYDRANT FLUSHING

Thursday & Friday, April 8 & 9

The Brownton Water Department will be flushing the entire city water system, weather permitting. During this operation, residents may notice cloudy or discolored water after nearby hydrants are flushed. Although the water is safe for consumption, please observe its color before doing laundry, etc. If water is discolored, flush out the service pipes by running your inside and/or outside faucets until clear.

New Auburn VFW, Auxiliary recognizes Vietnam vets, backs local youth groups

Members of the New Auburn VFW and its Auxiliary honored Vietnam veterans for their service while the Legion approved donations supporting local youth activities.

At its meeting March 22, the Legion Auxiliary members recognized National Vietnam Veterans Day March 29.

The recognition came after the secretary's report was read and accepted and the treasurer's report was read and filed pending audit. The POW-MIA candle was also lighted during the meeting and a moment of silence was observed.

The New Auburn VFW Auxiliary will meet again April 14, 1 p.m., at New Auburn City Hall.

At the New Auburn VFW meeting March 10, the membership approved a $500 donation for Weeping Willow 4-H, a $500 donation for Sibley East FFA, a $500 donation for Glencoe-Silver Lake FFA and a $300 donation for Sibley County American Legion baseball.

The VFW post members will meet April 14, 7 p.m., at New Auburn City Hall.

Weather Corner

By Jake Yurek

Hello spring!

After a picture-perfect weekend and a run toward 80 degrees Monday (April 5), we've changed course and cooled things off with quite a bit of rain. A strong, slow-moving storm has parked itself over the Midwest bringing thunderstorms Monday and a drenching rain from late Tuesday possibly lasting through Thursday (April 8). Ahead of the storm, it pumped in quite a bit of warm, moist air, bringing a couple record highs around the area. The soaking rain mid-week is definitely a welcome sight, as this should really kick up the greening process.

Rain totals should be an inch-plus for just about everyone, with some locations seeing over two inches. After the storm slowly exits the area, we won't recover back to the ridiculous highs we saw over the weekend and Monday. Highs to end the week will hold mostly in the 50s, maybe inching up to the 60s by Sunday (April 11) if we can get some sun.

The extended forecast shows near-normal high temperatures into early next week, with perhaps a brief cool down with another cold front. It shouldn't be anything too drastic. Have a great week everyone, at least the rain timed itself to the middle of the work week and not the weekend.

Wednesday night: Lows, 46-52; rain / thunderstorm.

Thursday: Highs, 52-58, lows 40-46; rain early, then scattered showers.

Friday: Highs, 52-58, lows, 37-43; partly cloudy, scattered showers.

Saturday: Highs, 54-60, lows, 37-43; partly cloudy, night showers?

Sunday: Highs, 57-63 Partly cloudy.

Weather Quiz: When does the average high get into the 60s and 70s?

Last week's question: What is a red flag warning?

Answer to last week's question: A red flag warning means conditions are ripe for fires to start and spread quickly. We see the most in early spring when the vegetation hasn't started to grow yet, leaving only the dead, dry underbrush. Conditions are generally very dry and wind always kicks up the danger.

Remember: I make the forecast, not the weather.

Our view: For now, proposed amendment is troubling

Conditional-use permit applications for solar gardens are a problem not likely to go away anytime soon, not as long as power companies like Xcel Energy are under state mandate to increase the amount of electricity generated by, among other sources, the sun. Last week, the county’s planning commission heard about a proposal to amend the county ordinance dealing with the approval of CUPs for solar gardens.

Most recently, McLeod County has denied applications for conditional-use permits for companies entering proposed lease agreements with landowners. Companies proposing the agreements, like Nokomis Energy and U.S. Solar, have appealed the rulings to the Minnesota Court of Appeals. Their appeals are based on the county’s zoning ordinance which, at the very least, seems crafted to satisfy neighboring landowners who wish to control how someone else uses their land under the subjective pretense that someone else’s farmland is so valuable it can’t be used for anything else, regardless of the desires of the landowner.

McLeod County’s justification to deny landowners the right to enter lease agreements and host solar gardens on their land rest in the proclamation the county is an agricultural land preservation county. Sounds a bit subjective. County commissioners who stood up for the freedom to own guns and go to church during a pandemic in defiance of the governor’s order, an order courts have upheld time and time again, suddenly are unwilling to stand up for the rights of a landowner who wants to host a solar garden. Apparently, freedom isn’t worth much when the county boardroom is filled with neighbors who would deny a neighbor the right to use property as he or she wishes. The county board wants it both ways.

The proposed amendment to the ordinance is potentially troubling because it is too vague and lacks definition. McLeod County should define with quantifiable data exactly what constitutes land that is “hard to farm.” Considering applications on a case-by-case basis could easily lead to approvals, or denials, determined on arbitrary criteria that include the level of threat to a county commissioner’s next bid for re-election. Residential housing on valuable farmland is OK; holding a country music festival on high-quality soil is fine, but a solar garden is not?

That doesn’t seem right. We’re on record as stating the county is denying people to use their land as they seem fit. A solar garden is a benign use so far as we can tell. If they are as potentially hazardous as some neighboring landowners claim, McLeod County wouldn’t have previously OK’d them. If there are issues, mitigate them.

Northeastern McLeod County is too closely situated to Xcel Energy lines, too close to transmission facilities to be spared applications from landowners who have a better option than farming.

Hopefully, a ruling from the Minnesota Court of Appeals will bring clarity to this issue. If the court rules in the county’s favor, so be it. Until then, we look for consistency and impartiality from our elected representatives.

Is that too much to ask?

Ridgewater taking stance on equity, anti-racism

By Craig Johnson, Ed.D.

Over the past year, Ridgewater College has been engaged in dialogue related to the Minnesota State system’s Equity 2030 commitment to eliminate all opportunity, performance and achievement gaps in our student population by the year 2030. While this activity is helping us address equity issues in our college, many of us still struggle to clearly understand the difference between equality and equity.

Equality can be defined as providing the same opportunities and access to resources for everyone. Equity, on the other hand, involves a focus on specific needs of individuals and groups, particularly under-served and marginalized people, that must be considered in order to genuinely provide equal access and opportunity for all.

At Ridgewater, we are focused on equity initiatives to help ensure every student has an equal opportunity to engage with our college community and succeed in the classroom. We are developing strategies and services to help every student effectively learn and successfully complete their courses and program of study. Rather than applying a sink-or-swim philosophy that allows a percentage of students to struggle and fail in the classroom and possibly drop out of school without earning a degree or credential, we are working to provide the necessary support resources and services that will genuinely give every student an equal opportunity to gain the skills, knowledge and credentials required for career and life success.

Craig Johnson

Broader issues
We are equally concerned about broader community issues related to equity, so we have also made a commitment to actively work to eliminate racism and promote inclusion and social justice. We have created a diversity, equity and inclusion council on each of our campuses to bring the community and college together to discuss racism, equity and social justice issues. We are collaborating with students to develop an anti-racism statement for the college.

Policy review

We are also reviewing college policies to identify language or processes that may create equity gaps or barriers, and we are developing training opportunities for faculty, staff and students. In addition, we are exploring ways to translate our academic-based equity by design initiative into a community model to help local businesses reach and serve a broader base of customers. We have also been actively involved in the anti-racism commitment development by Willmar’s Vision 2040 group. The college has signed on in support of the commitment and I am participating in the group’s effort to encourage people to sign-on in support of the statement.

These are just some examples of activities intended to help bring about social change by actively positioning Ridgewater College as a key community partner and resource to counter the forces that feed racism, fear, bias and oppression. I invite any interested community members to consider joining one of our campus-based diversity, equity and inclusion councils, or to reach out to us to explore how the college and community can work together to help ensure that our campuses and communities are truly safe, welcoming and inclusive places for everyone.

Craig Johnson, Ph.D., is the president of Ridgewater College, a public two-year college with campuses in Hutchinson and Willmar.

Dorothea Burke, 95, of Hutchinson

Dorothea “Dorothy” Adela Lena Burke, 95, of Hutchinson passed away on March 25, (which was her beloved husband, Franklin’s birthday) in Hutchinson.

Dorothy was born May 22, 1925, in New Ulm to Sophia (Mueller) and Herman Niebuhr of Gibbon. Dorothy was baptized, confirmed and married at Immanuel Lutheran Church, Gibbon. She graduated salutatorian of her senior class from Gibbon High School.

Dorothy was a wonderful mother and homemaker and together with Franklin, they ran Burke’s store in Fernando. They closed the store in 1975 and welcomed their three grandchildren, Bob, Lori, and Chuck into their home.

Dorothy had fantastic taste buds which translated into the best meals! Her favorite meal to prepare was roast duck. She could also whip up the best, lightest and most delicate tasting angel food cake. When she knew someone was coming to visit, she would make sure to have some of their favorite foods prepared just for them. We have missed her home cooked meals.

Dorothy had a magical way with all of the little ones in her life. Somehow, she could use that lovely smile and that sparkle in her beautiful brown eyes and make every child feel as if they were the most important person in the world. She could play and read to them for hours and enjoy every moment. It wasn’t about her; it was all about them. What a gift, the gift of time.

Dorothy had a love of reading and playing cards and working on jigsaw puzzles. Life became very sad and challenging for her when she started losing her vision about 12 years ago to macular degeneration and then finally becoming legally blind.

Death notices

Elaine Winterfeldt, 84, of Glencoe

Elaine Winterfeldt, 84, of Glencoe, passed away Saturday, April 3, at Oak Terrace Health Care Center in Gay-

County making progress on vaccination rates for older adults, residents

McLeod County Public Health is making progress toward its aim to vaccinate as many eligible residents as possible.

As of Thursday, April 1, 82 percent of those 65 and older and 32 percent of McLeod’s total population have received at least one dose of a COVID-19 vaccine. It’s McLeod County Public Health’s goal to continue to vaccinate according to the State of Minnesota Vaccine Dashboard, said Berit Spors, director of McLeod County Public Health and Human Services.

As of April 5, county staff has completed 28 COVID-19 vaccination clinics, providing 3,860 first doses and 1,471 second doses which means 5,331 doses were administered to residents.

On Thursday, April 1, the county held the biggest vaccine clinic it has provided thus far, administering 416 doses. These clinics continue to provide the Moderna vaccination (two-dose series). Future clinics will start serving McLeod residents aged 18 and older.

The county public health staff is proud of the work it has done along with the efforts of our clinics and pharmacies getting vaccines in arms, Spors said. Residents should avail themselves to the vaccine to protect themselves from COVID-19, support their community, help keep businesses, schools, and other places open. The vaccine is free for everyone. Insurance and immigration status do not matter.

Spors stresses being vaccinated against COVID-19 is one of the best ways a person can protect themselves and everyone around them and end the pandemic. Residents interested in a vaccination clinic should check with the McLeod County Public Health website or its Facebook page for future clinic information.

From Canada to McLeod County, one of the area’s early heroes was a heroine

By Brian Haines
McLeod County Historical Society

Julia Ells was no ordinary woman.

In fact, one could argue her exceptional quality made her extraordinary among most of her peers, regardless of gender. She was a McLeod County pioneer, a mother, a wife, and a good neighbor – more than that, however, she was a caregiver, a bit of a firecracker, and a defender of her family, her home, and the community she held dear.

Julia Ells was born Julia Loomer. She was the daughter of Hiram and Mary Loomer, born in Nova Scotia March 21, 1832. In 1850, as new lands were being open to settlement in the United States, Julia’s parents brought her near Whitewater, Wis., where the family built a farm and began living the lives of settlers. It was here, in 1851, that she married David H. Ells. In 1860, the couple moved west to start a new life in the land of 10,000 lakes. Minnesota was fast becoming an attractive destination for young settlers to plan their future. The state teamed with crystal clear lakes, abounded in wild animals, and possessed rich farmland at a very affordable price. With meager possessions, the couple traveled through the northern wilderness by ox team.

David and Julia set their sights on a young and blossoming community named Hutchinson. The settlement was small, merely a few families living in log cabins and trying to make a life for themselves along the banks of the Crow River. The town had been settled five years prior by three of the famed Hutchinson singers, John, Asa, and Judson.

An ominous threat

Hutchinson was still in an infant stage in 1862. Though new settlers were continuously moving to the community, the town itself was hardly yet established. In August of that year, the outlook for Hutchinson became grim to say the least. Farther west along the Minnesota River, factions of Dakota/Sioux began raiding white settlements and farmsteads. Many settlers were killed and those who survived told horrific tales of the fighting that was heading east. Settlers in McLeod County had to act fast.

Many fled their homes in favor of the safety back east, others chose to stay and defend the communities they had worked so hard to build. In Hutchinson, a petition to organize a home guard was circulated among the men in town, but few chose to sign, and most had planned to flee the area. Three women could not stand to see their beloved homes destroyed, so they signed the petition themselves and promptly cajoled the menfolk into joining the home guard.

Julia Ells was one of those women.

The women were successful in creating a town militia. In addition, they did not back out on their pledge to aid in the town’s defense. Julia, herself, loaded weapons, melted lead for bullets, and tended the wounded as the town was attacked Sept. 4. Shortly after the attack, a small company of recruits was ambushed by a Dakota war party near Acton and fled to Hutchinson for safety. Upon reaching town, it was apparent to the townspeople the soldiers needed medical attention. Julia gave her undivided attention to the wounded soldiers, tending them back to health. It’s doubtless several of the soldiers owed their lives to Mrs. Ells.

With the war behind them, David and Julia took up a homestead a few miles south of Hutchinson. There, they lived and farmed until David’s death in 1898. In her twilight years, Julia moved into Hutchinson and lived there until her death in 1918.

The Brownton Fire Department was called to the Bud Kalenberg farm four miles northwest of Brownton early Sunday afternoon to fight a fire in the large chicken barn. The blaze, apparently starting from a short circuit in an electric fan, was first noticed at about two o'clock and both Brownton and Stewart fire departments were summoned. Firemen and neighbors helped carry some of the poultry to safety but about 2,000 started chicks were lost. Damage was confined to the upper story of the barn.

Poppy Day will be observed in Stewart and throughout the United States on Saturday, May 25th, Mrs. O.W. Bethke, President of the DeGree-Fleisch unit of the American Legion Auxiliary, has announced. Memorial poppies to be worn in honor of the dead of both world wars will be distributed on the streets throughout the day by the Girl Scouts.

Yes, the time for the grand sport of Baseball is here and already the high school boys have been out practicing. Whenever a group of fellows are stationed or assembled, there you will find that the game of baseball is played. This was particularly true during the war, as we saw the game played in England, France and Germany. Baseball and softball equipment seemed to be a part of every outfit's furnishings. We believe that we got the most fun out of going into Hyde Park in the city of London any evening of the week, or on Sunday afternoon and sit down to watch the reactions of the Englishmen as they stood amazed at the way the American boys played the game. They didn't seem to understand it at all.

In Sibley County, the Benning family farm in Arlington will be honored as a century farm. It dates back to 1911.

Qualifying farms have been in continuous family ownership for at least 100 years and are 50 acres or more. Century farm families receive a commemorative sign, as well as a certificate signed by Minnesota State Fair and Minnesota Farm Bureau presidents and Gov. Tim Walz.

Since the program began in 1976, nearly 11,000 Minnesota farms have been recognized as century farms.

The "invisible hand" struck! This unseen "something" has touched upon a few local folks again....some may be able to figure out just how it actually happened but it still means that gremlins might be busy. The other day Harlow Penaz was trying out his father's-in-law (Anton Posusta) new tractor on Main Street. Leonard Posusta had just driven the tractor over from a neighboring town on the way home stopped off at Penzas' Fairway Store to show the new tractor, opening the throttle wide he sped about, turning the tractor on a spot about the size of a fifty cent piece. the steering gear became joggled by these same gremlins and Harlow decided to turn left, he turned that way, but the tractor swung right instead. Being close to the curb the gasoline beast jumped the curb, and headed h--- bent for somewhere else----A tree brought the journey to an end and Harlow finally hit the seat long enough to bend over and cut the ignition, stopping the motor. We hear it was something to see and they say the way the tractor bounced up, it must have been fed airplane gas since its birth.

Members of the Silver Lake Fire Department together with a number of farmers saved the farm buildings when a stack of hay, a strawpile and a manure pile became ignited about the middle of the afternoon. All buildings were saved from breaking into flame and damage was confined to loss of the hay and straw stacks. Extremely high winds that afternoon made for more difficult fire fighting, but the extra water and considerable hand labor saved the property.

Well Minnesota is again showing that it's the "theatre of seasons" but it wouldn't have to go to these extremes this far along. Right now we have snow flurries, cold winds and temperatures that drop far below freezing at night. Seeding is under way, but as of now has necessarily come to a halt.

A Highway patrol car driven by Earl Barnes of Glencoe, pursuing a speeding motorist, and a pickup truck driven by Howard Mielke of rural Plato collided on Highway 7 near the intersection with county road 4 Monday afternoon. Patrolman Barnes was driving at an estimated 90 miles per hour and was just to pass the pickup when it signalled for a left turn; Patrolman Barnes applied the brakes but collided and the patrol car careened into the ditch.

Dave Wentzel, Ambassadors president, says Alsleben is a shoo-in, but other people in the community– namely women who say the Ambassadors have a history of discriminating against women– aren't so sure she'll be welcomed with open arms.

When Brownton's vote tally came in on the proposed Glencoe-Silver Lake 15-year, $17.6 million school building bond referendum Tuesday, GSL Superintendent Chris Sonju said everyone got excited. Brownton area voters approved the referendum 237 to 211. When Glencoe area voters approved the bond referendum 819 to 654. But then the excitement waned as Plato's voters rejected the bond 260 to 155. Biscay also voted against the bond 40 to 17. But the crusher was Silver Lake, which rejected the plans by a whopping 431 to 160 margin. That spelled defeat, and took the air out of the superintendent's conference room where the vote tallies were written on a white board.

GSL girls' win their way to state hoops semifinals

By Brianna Taggart
Staff Writer

When the Glencoe-Silver Lake girls' basketball team hit the state tournament hardwood for the first time in 23 years, nothing could stop the Panthers.

With a tight game and a fight to the finish, GSL won its state quarterfinal game and advanced to state semifinals yesterday afternoon, Tuesday, April 6, for a shot at the state championship game.

Nerves and pressure from Minnehaha Academy made GSL's time on the court tough during the quarterfinals, but the Panthers adjusted and never gave up, according to head coach Jeff Monahan.

"Well, I think our kids were excited to play in the state tourney," Monahan said. "But, I think we were a little nervous and at times a little too jacked up."

The Panthers may have started out that way, but they started to relax and take the court back as the game commenced.

Moving forward

The March 30 win earned the Panthers' a spot in the state Class AA semifinal game against the Albany Huskies yesterday, Tuesday, April 6, 2 p.m. at Target Center. The game's score was not available to The Chronicle at the time of publication. It will be posted on the paper's Facebook and Twitter account.

The Huskies' overall record is 22-1, and the Panthers' is 19-4. New London-Spicer is the teams' one common opponent, and both teams lost to the Wildcats. The Panthers' lost to NL-S, 70-51, Feb. 2 and 78-55 Feb. 26. The Huskies lost the one game they played against New London-Spicer, 62-45, March 1.

New London-Spicer faced Providence Academy in the other Class AA semifinal.

Cheers erupted in the gym at Chanhassen High School after the Panthers blocked the possible game-winning basket from Minnehaha Academy. With a 58-57 lead for GSL, the clock ticked down to zero and shouts of joy sounded at the same time as the final buzzer. GSL advanced to the state semifinals yesterday, April 6.

the team will advance to the state finals Friday, April 9, 3 p.m., at Target Center. If the Panthers fall, their season is over.

"I thought the turning point was our defense and the ability to get big rebounds when we needed them," Monahan said of the win over Minnehaha. "We are going to need both to beat Albany."

Panthers 58, Minnehaha Academy 57

The Redhawks attacked the court in the first half by getting the ball down low and on the baseline in the first half. The Panthers tried making some adjustments, but they "just couldn't get on the same page," the coach said.

GSL fell 10 points behind about halfway through the first half, and it was around that time, Monahan saw his team start to relax and play better. The Redhawks didn't let up though, and kept their 10- to 12-point lead with five to six minutes left before halftime.

"I felt pretty good, because I thought we were starting to play and also attack the basket a little more," Monahan said.

However, with about four minutes to go before halftime, Minnehaha Academy had a two-minute run of 8-0 to increase its lead to 18 points.

"Minnehaha was putting a lot of pressure on us, so we were working hard to get the ball up court and into our offense," Monahan said. "I was hoping our girls didn't have any time to see the scoreboard."

The Panthers stayed head-to-head with Redhawks and went on a 7-0 run to cut the Redhawks' lead to 43-32 at halftime.

"When the coaches walked in (to the locker room), all the girls were focused and talking about how we are going to come back," Monahan said about their strategy planning during halftime.

They talked about cleaning up a few things on defense, how they needed to force outside shots and then make rebounds to get back into the game. When the game resumed, Monahan was impressed by the girls' effort.

"Wow, what a second half by these kids," Monahan said. "What a tough half of basketball. We had to work so hard to cut into the lead, and we kept working, trying to get the lead."

About four minutes into the second half, GSL cut Minnehaha's advantage down to four points, 49-45. The Redhawks were tough though and was able to answer the Panthers' scores with buckets of its own. Around the two minute mark, GSL's Hannah Graf "had a huge bucket" and free throw to tie the game. The free throw bounced out but Mylea Monahan came in with a rebound, took it out and passed it to Miah Monahan. The GSL senior drove left, scored and gave the Panthers their first lead of the game, 56-55, with 2:00 to go.

The Panthers tightened their defense and were "outstanding" at getting turnovers against Minnehaha to keep the ball in offensive play, according to Monahan.

Mylea Monahan had a nice drive and bucket to put the Panthers up three points, 58-55, with 1:35 to go in the game.

GSL maintained the pressure, but missed some free throws that would've made their win smoother. Down by just one point, 58-57, Minnehaha had one last chance to score the winning basket with 12 seconds to go. However, the Panthers' defense came up with a stop and forced a shot that was too short and Miah Monahan rebounded it, allowing GSL to run out the clock and claim a 58-57 victory.

"I'm so proud of our defense in the second half for holding Minnehaha to 14 points," Monahan said. "What a great team effort by all the girls."

Miah Monahan scored 23 points. Mylea Monahan scored 20 points. Kendall Guerrero scored eight. Graf scored six, and Audrey Petersen scored one.

After lost season, softball seniors ready to get back on the field

They were ready to go last year, a group of juniors with a new head coach hoping to help the team take another step or two and help the team advance even further than it did the previous year.

And then the pandemic hit, shelving their gloves, bats, cleats and aspirations for the season.

This week, the GSL girls' softball team will return to the field with a new set of goals. The juniors who weren't able to play a year ago are seniors now, the leaders of a team defending a Wright County Conference West from the 2019 season when the Panthers finished 17-6 overall, 12-3 in conference play.

This year's team features five returning seniors – Jessica Headlee, Jasmine Knick, Emma Malz, Brittin Posusta and Haley Schultz. Senior Miah Monahan is new to the team. Malz and Monahan have yet to join the softball team because of the GSL girls' basketball team's state tournament run. The Panthers will be counting on the talents and leadership of the seniors, said new GSL softball coach Taylor Jones.

"This first week of practice has been exciting," Jones said. "The seniors have been really focused and engaged through the first week of practice. Our entire senior class is full of leaders who love softball and want to be great teammates. We are in the process of setting team goals still as we move towards the season, whatever program goals are set by this group I expect it to be lofty and we will have to work hard to attain. I would expect nothing less from this class of competitive student-athletes."

A season lost

This spring, the team is focusing on the lessons of last spring. As a team, Jones has stressed not taking the game for granted as last year's seniors missed their entire senior season. He said family wellness and safety were priority one, but many of the players were rightfully disappointed in a lost season. The spring was odd because sports weren't immediately shut down. The team was paused, the season postponed with hopes of playing, but the chance to play never actually came to fruition so it was a difficult thing to cope with.

"We are fortunate to be able to play and the current seniors have been excited for this season for a long time," he said.

"I thought we had a lot of potential going into last season, but unfortunately we didn't get to experience that," said senior Jasmine Knick. As a sophomore, she hit .286 with six RBI in 27 at bats in 2019. "I was upset because I know we could've done amazing things together as a team."

This spring, the Panthers are hoping to play well as a team and individually. They also are hoping their season is not impacted by the pandemic. Their goal "is just to play the season with a positive attitude and just being able to play the whole season without COVID interfering, and have a good team bond," Knick said.

Jones looks forward to working with his seniors. He wasn't able to coach much last year. He sees this year's seniors as a competitive and coachable group.

"They are great people. On and off the field they are a great representation of GSL softball," he said.

What is the 'good news'?

The term "good news" is often used by Christians in reference to their faith. Good news is at the heart of Christianity, and it has both symbolic and literal meaning in reference to the New Testament.

According to the online biblical reference Bible Odyssey, "good news" is the literal translation of the Greek word "euangelion." It also can be interchanged with gospel, which is "good spiel" or "godspel," which means good news. New Testament authors offer that the good news means the salvation and liberation from sin and estrangement from God.

The Apostle Paul summarized the gospel, and in turn the good news, in this way:

Now, brothers and sisters, I want to remind you of the gospel I preached to you, which you received and on which you have taken your stand. By this gospel you are saved, if you hold firmly to the word I preached to you. Otherwise, you have believed in vain. For what I received I passed on to you as of first importance: that Christ died for our sins according to the Scriptures, that he was buried, that he was raised on the third day according to the Scriptures, and that he appeared to Cephas, and then to the Twelve.

Christians believe Christ's death symbolizes the ultimate sacrifice and paved the way for Jesus' resurrection. The death and resurrection - proving that their would be life after death for the faithful - became the core tenet of the Christian faith. Everyone who accepts the gospel and has faith in God will receive salvation in the Kingdom of Heaven.

Easter celebrations are important to Christians because this holiday is the most meaningful on the liturgical calendar. Easter highlights the good news in its most potent form.

Ridgewater planning to bring students back this fall

As COVID-19 vaccination rates rise and the central Minnesota region shows signs of virus case stabilization, Ridgewater College is preparing for a gradual return to normal and in-person classes over the upcoming summer and fall semesters.

While the college's plan for fall means a 'return to normal' regarding activities on campus, the health and safety of the college community will continue to be a top priority, said Ridgewater president Craig Johnson, Ed.D. Students, employees, and visitors should expect to begin fall semester with masking and distancing requirements still in place to continue to comply with Minnesota Department of Health guidelines.

If COVID conditions change, the college will be prepared to adjust accordingly, he said.

"We are increasingly confident we will be able to safely return to campus this fall and provide students with face-to-face instruction and on-campus student life activities," Johnson said. "As a first step, we will gradually re-open our campuses during the summer session with in-person classes and increased group activities."

Fall student life activities, including athletics, are expected to return to normal as well. Student clubs will meet face-to-face on campus and engage in off-campus meetings and events. The full range of athletic activities will resume once again, although it's uncertain whether spectators will be allowed. Campus services such as fitness centers, the gym, test centers, and Academic Support Centers will also re-open on campus.

For the past year, Ridgewater has prioritized the safety of the college community by pausing on-campus student life interactions and limiting on-campus employees and guests. When the college did open campus for in-person prospective student visits, groups were limited to a maximum of 10 people.

Many Ridgewater technical program students have been attending classes on campus with limited capacity to ensure appropriate hands-on experiences with equipment and machines. Most general education courses, however, like communications, math, and history, have been strictly online. Exceptions have been sciences that require lab work and some art courses.

Currently, about 73 percent of employees are working from home because of COVID-19. Ridgewater expects to bring employees back to campus gradually, beginning late spring and over the summer. By fall, Ridgewater expects to be back to full staffing levels on campus in most areas, with some continued telecommuting for employees on a selective basis. The college will offer a full array of face-to-face, fully online, and hybrid courses that combine both on-campus and online instruction.

"We expect to offer more online and hybrid courses than we did prior to the pandemic," Johnson said. "It's a great way to apply the many positive lessons we learned through our COVID experience this past year, and respond to student demand as well."

Almost nailed it!

Kaylee Pratt visited with the Easter bunny after winning the jelly bean guessing contest during the Silver Lake Civic Association's Easter celebration Saturday. Pratt guessed 1,050 jelly beans. There were 1,453 jelly beans. Participants in the annual celebration enjoyed fun activities, including a visit and photos with the big, friendly bunny in Silver Lake Veterans Memorial Park.

Coronavirus assistance package includes funding for student tuition aid

Thanks to the recent Coronavirus Response and Relief Supplemental Appropriations Act, 2021 (CRRSAA), Ridgewater College has received more than $975,000 in funding earmarked specifically for student financial assistance grants.

The first round of automatic grants ranging from $300 to $600 began on Friday, March 12. A second round of grants in the amount of $1,000 per student will become available on Monday, March 22, through an application process, according to a press release.

To receive a CRRSAA Student Aid grant, a student must be actively enrolled for spring semester 2021 in any online, hybrid or face-to-face credit, non-credit or continuing education courses and be a U.S. citizen or eligible non-citizen (including a U.S. national or permanent resident), have a valid Social Security number and have a high school diploma or GED certificate.

Students not eligible for the CRRSAA financial assistance include high school post-secondary enrollment options or concurrent enrollment students, senior citizens who already attend at discounted tuition rates, students receiving third-party employer payment for tuition and/or undocumented/DACA (Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals) students

"We know the COVID-19 pandemic has created overwhelming financial and related hardships for our students these past months, far exceeding what we normally see or are equipped to handle," said Ridgewater's Kelly Magnuson, vice president for Advancement and Outreach and Ridgewater Foundation executive director. "This latest federal funding – dedicated to students in need – is much needed and incredibly impactful in helping students persevere in meeting their educational goals during this difficult time."

The CRRSAA student financial assistance grants may be used toward any component of the student's cost of college attendance (including tuition, fees, books, housing, food, etc.), for health care including mental health, or for unexpected or emergency costs that have arisen due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Students must be able to explain their financial situation or hardship on their application.

For more information or to apply, go to www.ridgewater.edu/covid-19/crrsaa-funding-for-students/ or call 320-222-5200. Questions regarding the financial assistance application process should be directed to Ashley Gabbert at ashley.gabbert@ridgewater.edu or call 320-234-8500.

Among the state's best

GSL musicians ninth-grader Cavin Streufert (left) and Evan Marti, eighth-grader, were recently named to state honors bands after successful auditions. Streufert was selected to the state honor band for ninth- and 10th-graders. He was one of 241 musicians who auditioned for this band. It is Streufert's second consecutive year of being selected. Marti was named to the state honor band for sixth- through eighth-graders. Marti was one of 281 musicians from 68 schools who auditioned for the band. They will be members of the 2021 Minnesota Band Director's Association (MBDA) State Level Honor Bands. Both young men play the euphonium. This year the event will be held virtually because of the pandemic. This is the ninth consecutive year that GSL will be represented at the state level.
